Many Miles of Japanese Dress Silks

THIS is an exceptional event, even here. It is one of the biggest silk purchases we have ever made, but its importance does not rest on mere bigness, as the prices will tell you.

It came about this way: A firm of Japanese silk importers doing a very large and prosperous business, having branches in Yokohama, Tokio, Kioto, Kobe, and other places with queer-sounding names in the "Land of the Rising Sun," determined for the future to fill import orders only, and to cease carrying goods in stock. This firm had a large quantity of goods on hand which had to be sold promptly.

We took the silks—all of them. There were more than eighty-two thousand yards,—very nearly forty-seven miles. There are seventy-two qualities and more than 200 patterns.

In the whole lot there is not a flaw, and of the 1,650 pieces, we find only three that are soiled.

We don't need to tell readers of our store news what this means in the way of economies, nor for what numberless purposes these silks can be utilized. We very seldom suggest that you buy things that you do not immediately need, simply because they are cheap. But this is an occasion when a some of these silks will cost your four times to-day's price after this chance is gone. The prices are eloquent of cheapness.

At 12c. yd.—500 yards white satin figured Japanese silk, shot-cotton. At 14c. yd.—1,250 yards white satin figured Japanese silk, shot-cotton; printed in pretty colors. At 16c. yd.—400 yards Roman plaid printed Japanese silk. At 18c. yd.—250 yards printed Japanese silk, in large broken plaids. At 20c. yd.—250 yards printed Japanese silks; some Scotch plaids, some canale blocks; in four colors. At 22c. yd.—100 yards printed Japanese silks, 27 in. wide, in came plaids. At 24c. yd.—1,200 yards printed Japanese silks, in Roman stripes, plain stripes and Persian patterns. At 28c. yd.—450 yards printed Japanese silks, in shepherd's checks, and profile of foliage color on color or white on color. At 30c. yd.—1,600 yards printed Japanese silks, rich in quality and novel in designs; bold patterns.

failure to anticipate your wants is rank extravagance. Some of these silks will cost your four times to-day's price after this chance is gone. The prices are eloquent of cheapness.

At 25c. yd.—175 yards printed Japanese silks; daisies on flecks of color.

At 26c. yd.—850 yards printed Japanese silk in ombre stripes.

At 32c. yd.—900 yards printed Japanese silk in scroll and dot patterns on new coloring.

At 34c. yd.—450 yards printed Japanese silk on Dresden and Persian design.

At 35c. yd.—1,000 yards printed Japanese silk in polka dots and stripes of foliage.

At 36c. yd.—400 yards printed Japanese silks; yard wide, prettily printed.

At 38c. yd.—600 yards printed Japanese silk with white and colors on black very stylish.

At 40c. yd.—1,500 yards printed Japanese silk; some dots of white on black or on blue.
